

Journal for the Study of British Cultures

Volume 29 (2022) No 1

British Borders

Contents

Joachim Frenk (Saarbrücken) & Lena Steveker (Luxembourg)
Introduction	7
Sarah Heinz (Vienna)
Whose House Is This? Everyday Bordering and the Intersection of Home and Nation in British Property- Themed Television Shows	19
Anja Hartl (Konstanz)
Performing the Border in British Politics and Drama: The Case of David Greig	35
Kirsten Sandrock (Göttingen)
The Island as Semiosphere: Borders of Britishness in BBC Radio 4's This Sceptred Isle (1995-2006)	53
Jonatan Jalle Steller (Leipzig)
Come South of the Border with Me: Fetishized Boundaries in the Lyrics of Britain's Music Charts	69
Susanne Gruss (Bonn)
Monstrous Growths? Mushrooms, Fungi, Spores, and the Borders of the (Post)Human in Contemporary British Culture	85

Ariane de Waal (Halle-Wittenberg)

Slippery Sea Borders: Marine Species, Invasion Metaphors, and Migration across the Mediterranean and the English Channel 101

Reviews

Leah Cowan (2021), Border Nation: A Story of Migration
(reviewed by Ariane de Waal) 117

Johan Schimanski & Jopi Nyman, eds. (2021), *Border
Images, Border Narratives: The Political Aesthetics of Boundaries and Crossings*
(reviewed by Sophie U. Kriegel).....120

Annamaria Motrescu-Mayes, ed. (2021), De-Illustrating the History of the British Empire: Preliminary Perspectives
(reviewed by Nora Pleßke).....124

Elahe Haschemi Yekani (2021), Familial Feeling: Entangled Tonalities in Early Black Atlantic Writing and the Rise of the British Novel
(reviewed by Felipe Espinoza Garrido).....130

Carolyn Lesjak (2021), *The Afterlife of Enclosure:
British Realism, Character, and the Commons*
(reviewed by Sophia Möllers).....134

Daniela Keller & Ina Habermann, eds. (2021), Brexit and Beyond: Nation and Identity
(reviewed by Dorothee Birke) 138

Winter Journals
for personal use only / no unauthorized distribution